

Effect of kinetic behavioral program using educational technology in the development of some health trends and basic motor skills for pupils with mental disabilities