Aim of the work
Summary	I
General Introduction	V
Types of synthetic surface active agents	1
A-Anionic surfactants	(2-12)
B-Nonionic Surfactants	(13-22)
D-Cationic Surfactants	(23-31)
E-Amphoteric Surfactants	(32-41)
Application and uses of some heterocyclic surfactants.....	(42-53)
Results and Discussion
PART (1)
Nonionic surfactants containing heterocyclic moiety from fatty acid isothiocyanat.	(54-59)
PART (2)
Nonionic surfactants containing heterocyclic moiety from fatty acid hydrazide.....	(80-102)
PART (3)
Anionic surfactants containing heterocyclic moiety.....	(103-118)
PART (4)
Amphoteric surfactants containing heterocyclic moiety.....	(119-127)
Figures
Materials and Methods	(128-143)
References	(144-163)
